Foreword

Again the halls echo with laughter and shouting as students return to the MSU campus. Eager freshmen adapt themselves to college life and everyone shares the responsibilities of upholding MSU tradition and school spirit. The lights burn steadily throughout the night as knowledge for a more prosperous America is obtained. A brief break from studies once again makes the Lodge the heart of the campus as students pause to enjoy a cup of coffee and chat with friends. New buildings and modern facilities set a more pleasant atmosphere for study and college life. A cheerful smile and cooperation among students helps to maintain the unity of all on the Montana State University campus. In the future is the promise of fulfillment of many dreams, as the students of today graduate and become the teachers, businessmen, doctors, lawyers, scientists, journalists, and artists of tomorrow . . . Another day passes . . . and soon another year at MSU.

Stately elms line the "Oval Walk." The campus has more varieties of native and exotic trees than any other campus in the United States.

The Liberal Arts Building is a fine example of the recent modernization program on the MSU campus.

Teaching students the skills of a successful business future is the main object of the School of Business Administration.

In the future, the hard work and study of these chemistry students will be justified in the scientific world.

Communication is another essential aspect of the world today. Journalism students learn their profession well.

Geology students learn about the mysteries of the earth and its formations in labs and on field trips.

Almost nothing in modern methods and facilities is overlooked at MSU. The varied curriculum is designed to offer training and education in the many fields in which students are interested. Schools are specialized in the training of students for business, science, art, music and the communicative world of tomorrow. These schools are provided with facilities which enable the student to gain the knowledge which is necessary for the advancement of our civilization.

One of the leading schools in Pharmacy is located on the MSU campus. Here prospective pharmacists and druggists are trained for future positions.

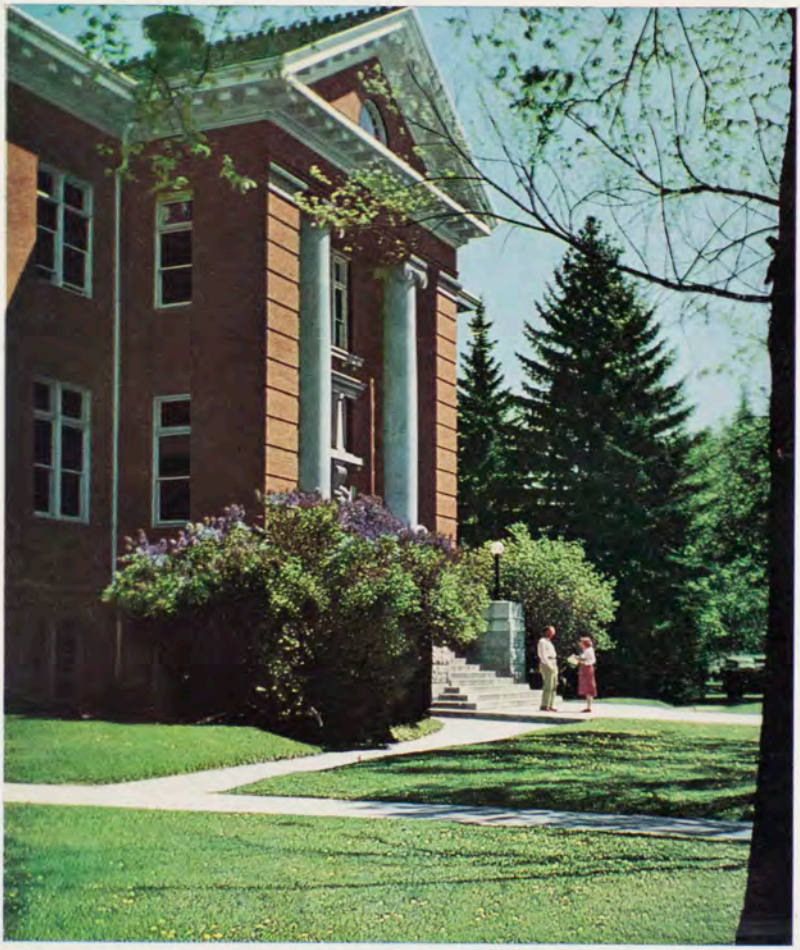

The drama department produces many fine plays during the school year and from them, students learn the art and appreciation of acting.

MSU students display their talent at concerts during the year. Concentration and a love for music is the proof of a successful musician. The music school offers many kinds of training to the interested student.

The College of Fine Arts offers instruction in both the creative and performing arts. Interest has grown so that now ballet, crafts, and outside classes in oil and water color have been added in addition to the formal courses in "Fine Arts."

At one time the University Library, the Law Building is now one of the oldest and most prominent buildings on the University campus.

The main reading room of the library is a familiar place to MSU students.

Night comes to MSU and students continue their studying in the library.

While the remodeling of the library was being done, MSU students temporarily studied in rooms of the Liberal Arts Building and anxiously awaited the moment when they could step into a more pleasant atmosphere for studying. Students have access to almost 200,000 volumes and historical documents for pleasure reading or reference in study. The library also subscribes to more than 900 periodicals, the current issues of which are kept in the reading room.

High above the MSU campus, freshmen take up the annual task of whitewashing the "M" on Mount Sentinel.

One of the social events of the year is the Sadie Hawkins Dance which attracts all women and eligible men —especially those who get caught— for an unforgettable night of fun for all.

One of the main attractions of campus life activities are the Friday night mixers in the spacious Grill room of the Lodge.

A perfect place to entertain friends is in the Craig Hall lounge, typical of dormitory living on campus. The modernistic furnishings, and decorations give the room that home touch and provide the men with an atmosphere of relaxation.

Comfortable Craig Hall rooms are a pleasant place to study as well as sleep.

Girls, too, need a home away from home and the rooms at New Hall are the perfect answer. The residence halls for women have many accommodations which make college life more enjoyable and easier.

A fire built in the New Hall lounge fireplace creates an atmosphere which momentarily takes students from books to home and memories.

Every day, students living in dormitories, eat their meals in the sunny Cascade room. The meals are well planned by trained dieticians and cooks.

The spacious Cascade room of the Lodge is also the setting for many dances during the school year.

The comfortable lounge on the first floor of the Lodge is a quiet place to relax between classes.

At right — In warm weather, students shed their coats and soak up the sun on the patio outside the grill room.

Robert Sibley, founder of the traditional SOS, and Mrs. Sibley are honored by Spurs, Bear Paws, and other MSU students in festive "Singing on the Steps" at Homecoming time.

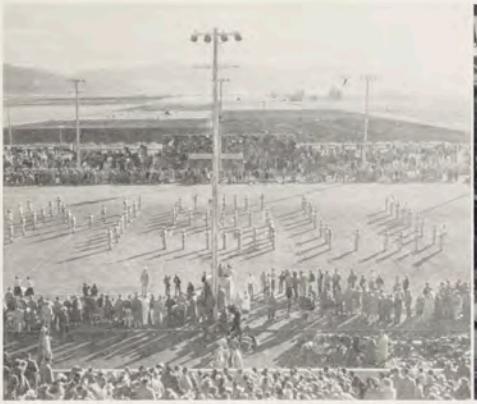

A freshman never rests . . . painting the Victory cart and adding a touch of shine and glory to the Victory bell is just one of a freshman's many duties. The bell rings out triumphantly Montana's victories.

College life is full of traditions, and MSU has many . . . Freshmen painting the "M" . . . the beanies . . . the feud between the Foresters and Lawyers . . . Hello Walk . . . and many more . . .

Red roses and sparkling crown are the reason pretty Sue Garlington, 1955 Homecoming Queen, smiles.

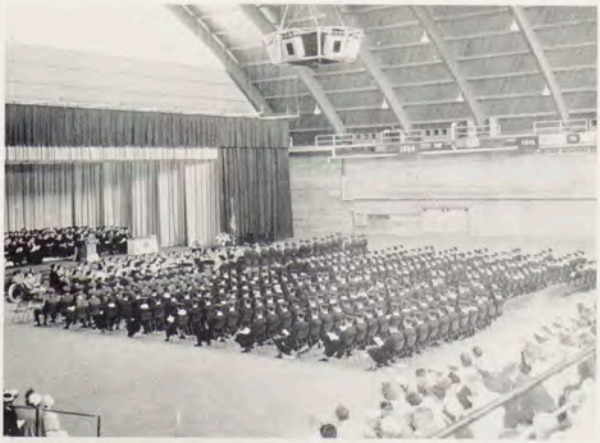

The Grizzly-Bobcat game is played in Bozeman and Missoula on alternate years, and is the high spot for rivalry between MSU and MSC. The traveling trophy is now in the MSU trophy case.

Basketball is but one of the many uses to which the spacious new Field House is put.

Also traditional are Homcoming, the weekend honoring the Alumni, Dad's Day, honoring the "man who foots the bills;" and the many convocations, pep rallies and song fests held during the year.

At graduation time, seniors, under the watchful eyes of their parents and friends, anxiously await the moment for which they have worked for many years. Among these students may be our next political leader, businessman, or housewife of tomorrow.

DEDICATION

The years of laughing, gaiety, and studies come to an end as students await graduation from their "Alma Mater." Most of them look forward to careers and a place in the business world. As seniors graduate, the other students move forward and anxiously await the coming year. Again the halls will echo with laughter and the lights will burn steadily throughout the night. — It is to these seniors and the students that will follow that this book is dedicated.

Retiring Faculty

DR. A. S. MERRILL, Vice President, Dean of the Faculty, Professor of Mathematics

HELEN GLEASON, Chairman, Department of Home Economics, Professor of Home Economics

RUFUS A. COLEMAN, Professor of English

J. HOWARD TOELLE, Professor of Law

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Second Row — Fred Harris, Instructor; Robert Line, Professor; Albert T. Helbing, Professor; William S. Peters, Associate Professor; Donald J. Emblem, Professor; Theodore H. Smith, Dean and Professor; Edwin O. Dwyer, Assistant Professor; Fred A. Henningsen, Assistant Professor; Donald A. Watson, Assistant Professor.

The School of Business Administration on the MSU campus dates back to 1919. For 1956-57 an expanded program has been developed encompassing a curriculum which leads to a Master of Science degree in Business Administration.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Second Row — Linus Carleton, Dean and Professor; John F. Staehle, Assistant Professor; Vernon Sletten, Associate Professor; James W. Gebhart, Assistant Professor; Henry Knapp, Assistant Professor; George Millis, Assistant Professor.

This year the School of Education initiated two new programs: the program leading to the bachelor's degree in elementary education and the program leading to the doctor of education degree.

SCHOOL OF FORESTRY

Back Row — Arnold Bolle, Associate Professor; William Pierce, Assistant Professor; James Wallis, Assistant Professor; John Krier, Associate Professor; Douglas Gilbert, Assistant Professor; Don Baldwin, Supt. Forest Nursery and Supervisor, School Forest; Gene Cox, Assistant Professor.

The School of Forestry of Montana State University has reached its maximum enrollment with respect to its physical plant and its teaching staff. Last year and again this year the total enrollment must be held under 300 and a limited number of graduate students. Increased enrollment depends upon increasing the staff and teaching facilities. The School refused entrance to 36 per cent of those who applied for entrance during this year.

Left to right — Edward B. Dugan, Professor; Mrs. J. H. Hoeven, Secretary; O. J. Bue, Acting Dean and Professor; Richard L. Disney Jr., Assistant Professor; Miss Dorothy Johnson, Assistant Professor; Dr. Frederick T. C. Yu, Associate Professor.

Prospective employers continue to constitute the most difficult problem of the School of Journalism. There simply are not enough Montana graduates to supply the demand. Graduates this year stepped into jobs paying as much as $100 a week. Many good jobs went begging.

SCHOOL OF LAW

President Carl M. McFarland, Professor; Russell E. Smith, Assistant Professor; Dean Robert E. Sullivan, Professor; Edwin W. Briggs, Professor; Oscar Provost, Professor; James O. Tingle, Assistant Professor.

The School of Law, which is accredited by both the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools, completed its second year under the recently revised semester system. A number of combination programs formulated by the Law School in cooperation with various departments of the University are offered to students.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The staff of the School of Music is made up of experienced teachers of music who are also performing artists. They bring to their students both the theoretical and practical knowledge so necessary to firm understanding of the musical art.

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

The School of Pharmacy, requiring a minimum of three years professional curriculum based on two years of general college work, is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy and is accredited as a class "A" school by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education. In addition to a degree of Bachelor of Science, a student may also obtain the Master of Science degree in the areas of pharmacy, pharmaceutical chemistry, pharmacognosy, and pharmacology.

DEPARTMENTS OF SOCIOLOGY, ANTHROPOLOGY, AND SOCIAL WORK

Not pictured — James W. Carroll, Instructor in Sociology and Anthropology.

This department offers a combined economics and sociology major for those who plan to go into work that requires a background in both of these fields, besides graduate and undergraduate degrees in sociology, anthropology and social work.

DEPARTMENT OF FOREIGN LANGUAGES

In 1955-56 the Department of Foreign Languages increased its staff by two members, totalling nine, and inaugurated courses in Italian and Russian. A Language laboratory was installed and put into operation. The Department sponsored three regional meetings of language teachers.

DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY AND POLITICAL SCIENCE

Standing — Oscar J. Hammen, Professor; John T. Schlebecker, Assistant Professor; Thomas Payne, Assistant Professor; E. E. Bennett, Professor; J. A Karlin, Assistant Professor; R. T. Turner, Professor and Chairman.

Offers the B.A. degree with a combined major in history and political science, or separate majors in either history or political science. A Master's degree can be obtained in either of the latter fields.

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

In this department students may concentrate their interests in various fields including: general economic theory, labor economics, consumer economics, utility economics, economics of finance, and world economics. Economics and sociology and economics-law combinations are also offered.

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY AND PHILOSOPHY

Left to right — James H. Straughan, Assistant Professor; E. A. Atkinson, Professor and Chairman; F. Lee Brissey, Assistant Professor; E. L. Marvin, Professor (Philosophy); Frank M. du Mas, Assistant Professor; Bert R. Sappenfield, Professor; Thomas C. Burgess, Assistant Professor.

A specialized major in either field of psychology or philosophy is offered for professional preparation and a combined major is designed for a general education also.

AFFILIATED SCHOOL OF RELIGION

Boasts a 500% increase in enrollment in religion classes over the past two years; sponsors a freshman camp for 60 freshmen at Flathead Lake on the week-end preceding Orientation Week and holds general meetings, in-the-dorm discussions and popcorn forums at faculty homes sponsored by the Student Christian Association.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

Left to right—Dr. Leslie A. Fiedler, Chairman of Dept. and Prof.; Rufus A. Coleman, Prof.; Dr. Agnes Boner, Assistant Prof.; Merrel D. Clubb, Associate Prof.; Dr. Nan C. Carpenter, Associate Prof.; Dr. Walter L. Brown, Associate Prof.; Dr. Sarah Betsky, Teaching Assistant; John E. Moore, Associate Prof.; Jesse Bier, Instructor; Walter Van Tilburg Clark, Associate Prof.; Dr. Bernard Heringman, Assistant Prof.; Dr. Walter King, Assistant Prof.; Henry V. Larom, Assistant Prof.; Jacob Vinocur, Instructor; Dr. Vedder M. Gilbert, Associate Prof.; Edmund L. Freeman, Prof.; Dr. Seymour Betsky, Assistant Prof.

The English Department offers three courses of study, one for the students primarily interested in preparing for advanced work in literature, one for students seeking experience and guidence in writing, and one for students planning to teach in scondary schools.

DEPARTMENT OF SPEECH

The Speech curriculum provides background and training for competence in public address, forensics, oral interpretation, radio and television, speech correction and education and historical sociodrama. Academic programs lead to the Bachelor's and Master's degrees.

DEPARTMENT OF FINE ARTS

During this past year, the Art Department has increased its staff. It now offers a greater variety of courses for both majors and non-majors. Plans for the future include a graduate program to be established at an early date.

BALLET

Mrs. Marjorie Cooper.

Ballet classes were taught for the second year by Mrs. Marjorie Cooper. All choreography for the Nite Club Dance and the All-School Show, "Carousel," was original.

DRAMA

LeRoy Hinze, Assistant Professor; Clemen Peck, Assistant Professor.

This active department this year staged among other productions an original play written and directed by Carroll O'Connor, a graduate of MSU.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

Second row — R. D. Remington, Instructor; William Myers, Assistant Professor; W. R. Cowell, Assistant Professor; J. A. Peterson, Instructor.
Not pictured — Mrs. Vera Myers, Lecturer; Harold Chatland, Dean of the College fo Arts and Sciences and Professor of Math.; A. S. Merrill, Vice President and Dean of the Faculty, and Professor of Math.

GEOLOGY DEPARTMENT

Second Row — Robert M. Weidman, Assistant Professor; Robert W. Fields, Assistant Professor; Fred Honkala, Chairman and Assistant Professor; John P. Wehrenberg, Associate Professor.

The course in Geology now includes work in water resources and vertebrate paleontology.

DEPARTMENT OF BACTERIOLOGY

A B.A. in Bacteriology or Medical Technology is offered to the students in this department as well as an M.A. in Bacteriology. Seminars at the Rocky Mountain Laboratory in Hamilton are available to seniors and graduate students.

PHYSICS DEPARTMENT

Faculty members are pictured around the Department's seven million electron volt linear accelerator which is used in research in atomic physics.

The Alumni Association was founded in 1901 with eleven members. At the first meeting in June 1901, the constitution was adopted and elections were held. Eloise Knowles was elected president, Charles Pixley, vice-president, and Charles Avery, secretary-treasurer. The first financial statement in 1905 showed the following:

Receipts:
Amount in treasury	$ 4.90
Gift from Mrs. Ryan	1.50
Amount from Banquet	57.00
	$ 66.90
Expenditures:
Paper	$ 1.50
Stamps	2.10
Flowers	2.00
Banquet	55.00
	$ 61.10
Balance	$ 5.80

Dues at this time were 25 cents per year.

Since this time, the Alumni Association has made great strides, both financially and in membership. There are now over 200 paid up life members on the roll, besides the many people who renew their membership each year. Receipts from dues and life memberships totaled over $7400.00 this year.

The main function of the Alumni Association is to keep the Alumni in contact with the University, each other, and the activities of each. This is accomplished through the Alumni News Bulletin which is published six times a year and has a circulation of over 13,000. The bulletin reaches alumni in 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and 49 foreign countries from England to China.

The Association is headed by an executive committee consisting of two delegates from each of the 13 alumni districts of the state, each of whom is elected on an alternate year, plus three 3-year delegates, at large. In addition to the committee, there are the President, Vice-president, and Secretary-Treasurer, who are elected each year. Meetings are held twice each year, one on the campus during Homecoming and another in the spring somewhere in the state.

The Alumni Association maintains a permanent office on campus which keeps extensive records on Alumni and former students. It is this office which is responsible for publication and mailing of the Alumni Bulletin. Each month the office records over 500 changes of address and other pertinent data concerning alumni.

Alumni funds have at times been used to finance student activities, and grants-in-aid, student loans, and scholarship programs. The Executive Committee was instrumental in establishing the Endowment Foundation, which now operates as a separate organization.

ANDREW C. COGSWELL

Andrew C. Cogswell resigned as Secretary-Treasurer of the MSU Alumni Association in June 1956 after ten years service to become the Dean of Students at Montana State University. Andy received his B.A. from the University in 1927 and his M.A. from the University of Minnesota in 1943. He joined the MSU faculty in 1931 as an instructor in Journalism and rose to professor in the School of Journalism. In 1946, he was named Director of Public Service Division and served there until he took over the Dean's job.

He is a member of Kiwanis Club, Author's Club, ACPRA, American Alumni Council, Sigma Delta Chi and a Life member of the MSU Endowment Foundation. His hobbies are fishing, hunting, and painting. He is married to the former Pauline Swartz and they have one son, Bill, now a junior at the University.

DR. PHILIP R. WHITE

Dr. White is a much honored experimenter in the field of plant tissues and organ cultures.

A native of Illinois, he moved to Montana at an early age and was educated in schools at Victor and Hamilton. In 1918 he entered Montana State University and graduated in 1922 with a B.A. degree in botany. Among other honors at MSU, he was the recipient of the Duniway prize in botany.

After graduate study at the University of Washington, Dr. White attended the Ecole d'Institute, Valence, France. In 1937, he was awarded the Annual Prize of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, as the investigator who had done the most distinctive piece of work in science for the year.

In 1940, Dr. White recieved the Stephen Hales award "for outstanding service" from the American Society of Plant Physiologists and in 1954 he was honored with the Centennial Medal of the Societe de Botanique de France. In April 1956, he was elected president of the International Tissue Culture Association. Dr. White has published more than 90 technical articles, two books, and a number of chapters in other books. This spring, Dr. White received an honorary degree of Doctor of Science from MSU at the 59th annual commencement exercises.

Distinguished Alumni

Honored by MSU

SENATOR MICHAEL J. MANSFIELD

Michael J. Mansfield holds both B.A. and M.A. degrees from Montana State University.

Reared in Great Falls, he settled in Butte in 1922 where for the next eight and one-half years he worked in the mines as a mucker, miner, sampler and assistant mining engineer. He attended the School of Mines at Butte for one year. In 1931 he came to Missoula to attend the University from which he was graduated in 1933. He took advanced work at the University of California at Los Angeles, from which he returned to Montana to become a member of the MSU faculty.

Mr. Mansfield became a member of Congress in 1943 and a Senator in 1953. He has gained wide recognition as an authority in the field of international relations and on three occasions during his fourteen-year membership in Congress he has served as a special representative of three different presidents of the United States.

At commencement exercises this spring, Senator Mansfield addressed the graduating class at the Baccalaureate services. He was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the graduation ceremonies.

Student Administration

GARY JYSTAD
ASMSU President

A memorable year for MSU under Gary's wise and capable leadership . . . soon after he took office, MSU was faced with the liquor controversy . . . with his calm, logical guidance, student-administration differences were ironed into a workable set of University rules . . . A student Judicial Council was formed . . . an important step toward a social honor system . . . Gary continually strived for closer working relationships between students, faculty, and administration . . . During his term of office, far-sighted constitutional amendments brought increased membership for an over-worked Central Board and deletion of non-functioning class officers . . . Gary's spell-binding speaking ability and calm decision in a crisis brought MSU a mature year in student government.

BRUCE CRIPPEN
ASMSU
Business Manager

"Crip" kept a tight rein on the student funds . . . spent many long hours with his Budget and Finance Committee allocating portions to the various organizations . . . concerned himself with student loan fund policy . . . He was one of the innovators of permanent activity cards with ID pictures . . . Through all his money troubles, his efficiency and unfailing sense of humor served him in good stead.

MARY ELLEN ERICKSON

ASMSU
Vice President

Mary Ellen worked closely with Tomme Lu Middleton in setting up a meaningful program of activities for the Lodge . . . consolidated committees on dance, art, lectures, movies, concerts, and games into a working Activities Board which she headed . . . This board will set up a "western atmosphere room" in the Lodge — a busy year for a capable campus leader.

ANN CROCKER

ASMSU
Secretary

Secretarial duties kept Ann busy . . . but not too busy to make important contributions to Central Board and other campus organizations . . . named Outstanding Senior Woman at Matrix Table in the spring . . . a well-deserved laurel for an outstanding girl.

Publications

KIM FORMAN

Editor

To the editor of any paper, school or professional, falls the responsibility not only of editing, but of bearing the brunt of public opinion, both "pro and con." Kim Forman, as editor of the Kaimin from the spring of '55 through winter '57, proved more than capable as both an editor and public relations man. Well liked by his editorial staff, Kim helped create and sustain a sense of unity on the Kaimin which made for a very successful year.

VIRGINIA McBRIDE

Business Manager

To Virginia McBride was given the job of handling the "loot." Since the Kaimin operates on a budget in excess of $16,000 a year, this was no mean task. Under her was an ad staff who daily gathered advertisements from downtown which provided most of the Kaimin's operating funds. After working the whole year, keeping one eye on the budget and the other on the ad chasers, Virginia closed the books on a job well done in the winter of '56.

Edward B. Dugan acted as adviser for the Kaimin in addition to his regular professorial duties. He specializes in teaching advertising.

John Bansch, as an associate editor, first covered many of the sports events around campus and later branched off into assigning stories about the Lodge and campus in general.

As society editor, Norma Beatty compiled notes on the campus social life each week. Her column appeared on Fridays filled with everything from pinnings and functions to mock "hangings."

Montana Kaimin

Bill Larcombe, as sports editor, both wrote and assigned the sports stories that appeared in the Kaimin. From the teletype he was also able to furnish the student body with national sports results.

To Ron Erickson, news editor, was given the tremendous job of co-ordinating campus-wide news coverage. He assigned most of the stories that were written for the Kaimin with an efficiency that made the work easier for everyone.

As feature editor, Joan Hoff was in charge of assigning the non-news stories. In writing these the reporters had more freedom of style and imagination, and thus a balance between straight news and features was attained.

DICK HOSKING

Editor

Caught up in a whirl of layout, copy, pictures, staff problems, deadlines and more deadlines, editor Dick came through it all unscathed . . . gave willingly of his time all year to assure early publication . . . Working for a degree, editing the Sentinel, and developing pictures on the side kept him on the go all the time.

KAY BLASZEK

Business Manager

Business manager Kay spent long hours in the office budgeting Sentinel funds . . . doing a hundred and one odd jobs . . . and making sure the rest of the staff earned its salary.

Cyrile Van Duser again served as willing adviser to the staff . . . gave freely of her time to assure things kept running smoothly.

Ad Manager Camie Peterson beat the pavement with her capable staff and met her deadline with a full quota of ads.

Sentinel

Associate editor Portia Breitenstein handled pictures for the staff . . . could be seen around the office any afternoon cheerfully tackling the many odd jobs that came her way.

Associate Charlene Mudd . . . another steady around the office in the afternoons . . . always willing to handle any job from layout to sorting pictures.

Now you see her, now you don't . . . Associate Marcia Smith managed to squeeze in a little time for Sentinel work in between myriad other activities . . . worked in the summer doing "clean-up" jobs.

LARRY DYLINA
Chief Photographer

LARRY DAVID
Photographer

Again this year Chief Photographer Larry Dylina wielded a capable camera . . . spent many long hours in the photo lab meeting deadlines . . . and was ably assisted by frosh Larry David.

Natalie Norby and Charles Kaehn strike a calm pose before taking over their duties as editor and business manager of the Sentinel for next year . . . and good luck!

The soup to nuts staff . . . a crew of willing office girls . . . did everything from writing copy to sorting pictures . . . in and out of the office nearly every day.

DEE SCRIVEN
Copy

ROXIE PERRIOR
Copy

Dee Scriven and Roxie Perrior helped out by writing copy . . . Murdo Campbell also joined the staff and handled the sports section for this year's book.

Campus literary magazine containing creative writing of MSU students. Published all three quarters for the first time this year, its circulation jumped from 1200 to 1900 issues. Staff members and authors are welcomed from any department on campus.

First Row: Joan Murphy, Katy Lou Johnson, Dee Scriven, Larry Phillips, Joan Hoff, Barbara Knight, Liz Astle.
Second Row: Henry Larom, Doug Hacker, Arley Levno, John Heggers, Claire Larson, Charles Kaehn.

The Montana Grizzlies finished the 1955 season with three wins and seven losses under new head coach Jerry Williams and his staff. Montana placed sixth in the eight team Skyline Conference with two wins and four losses after being a unanimous choice for the cellar in pre-season polls.

The undermanned Grizzlies opened their tough ten game schedule at Houston, Texas against a heavily favored University of Houston eleven. The odds were right and the weather favored the Texans as they rolled over the Silvertips 54-12 in the season opener for both teams.

Montana then travelled to Billings for their conference opener against the always strong University of Wyoming Cowboys.

After a scoreless first half the Poke grid machine shifted into high gear and the final score read—Montana 6, Wyoming 35.

The following weekend the Grizzlies started off on the right foot as they downed Brigham Young 27-13 on Dornblaser Field. The Silvertips displayed plenty of class in gaining their first conference win of the young season.

Homecoming Day proved to be anything but a happy event for the Grizzlies as Denver University's Pioneers spoiled the afternoon with a stunning 61-13 triumph on Dornblaser Field. A capacity crowd watched the DU air attack score five times during the game.

Montana was eager to get back in the win column the next

Norm Kampschror (11), Montana quarterback attempts to step free from a Denver tackler in the Montana-Denver Homecoming Day game at Missoula. Teammates Dick Dzivi (57), Ron Johnson (53) and Bill Kaiserman (47) are shown converging on the play. A capacity crowd watched the Pioneers stop the Grizzlies 61-13.

Denver halfback Willie Frank (43) scampers around end on a touchdown romp as the Pioneers went on to victory in the Homecoming Day tussle. Grizzlies Buck Gehring (77), Bob McGihon (63) and Ervin Rosera (32) pursue the speedy DU back.

weekend at Logan but the Utah State Aggies had too much power and stopped the Silvertips 32-6 to hand Montana their third conference defeat.

Hard work was in store for Montana as they prepared for the New Mexico Lobos and it payed off as the Grizzlies presented Coach Williams with a 19-14 conference victory on his "day." The hard-charging Silvertip line combined with a smooth running attack spelled defeat for the Lobos.

Colorado A&M was the next foe on the Grizzlies' schedule and the game turned out to be the thriller of the year. The Rams, leading the conference and eventual winners of the Skyline crown, escaped defeat when they recovered a Grizzly fumble on their 5-yard line and preserved their 12-7 victory.

The annual Bobcat-Grizzly game was next on the schedule and the Grizzlies came through as expected with a 19-0 victory at Bozeman. The Silvertip aerial attack proved to be the Cats' downfall.

Denver quarterback Lee Lovaas (17) is being hauled down by Montana center Dick Dzivi as he attempts an option play in the Pioneer-Grizzly game. Teammates Milt Wikert (35), Bob McGihon (63) and Carl Strand (66) add their assistance.

Tucson, Arizona was the scene of the Grizzlies' next game and the Wildcats vaunted ground game rolled up a 29-0 victory for the Border Conference leaders. The Grizzlies threatened in the first quarter but from that point on it was all Arizona.

The final game of the season was played in the rain and mud at Moscow, Idaho as the Idaho Vandals defeated the Grizzlies 31-0. The weather stopped the Grizzlies' air attack and the Vandals ground game was the difference.

All-Skyline honors were accorded to Doug Dasinger, guard, and Captain Dale Shupe, halfback, for their stellar play during the season. Terry Hurley, sophomore end, won the conference pass receiving crown and placed fifth in the nation in that department.

New Mexico halfback Gus Hampton (23) is brought down with a thud by Montana end Lou Pangle (86) in the Lobo-Grizzly game. The hard-charging Grizzly line kept the Lobos intact as Montana won their second conference game of the season.

Don Brant (41), speedy Grizzly halfback, sets sail on an end run during the Grizzly-Bobcat game at Bozeman. Teammate Norm Kampschror (11) leads the way as the Silvertips combined a smooth running-passing attack for a 19-0 triumph over the Cats.

The Grizzlies opened the 1955-56 basketball season with six returning lettermen and new head coach Forrest B. (Frosty) Cox at the helm. Montana finished in a tie for seventh in the Skyline Conference with four victories and ten defeats. The overall season mark was fourteen wins and twelve losses.

Montana faced six games with Pacific Northwest opponents before opening their conference schedule. The first game of the season saw the Silvertips down the Idaho Vandals at the Field House 70-63. The Grizzlies then travelled to Spokane to meet Whitworth College and the Pirates won out 67-65 in a thriller. Next stop was Moscow, Idaho where the Silvertips regained their winning form for a hard fought 70-65 victory. Washington State College was the next opponent and Montana looked sharp in gaining a 73-54 win at Missoula. Gonzaga University came to the Field House next and the Grizzlies preserved their undefeated home record with a convincing 85-69 triumph. The final game of the non-conference schedule was played at Kalispell and the Grizzlies avenged their earlier defeat by downing Whitworth 60-46.

Montana opened their conference schedule with two toughies at the Field House. Utah University, Skyline champs, and Brigham Young University, runners-up, were the first two foes. Utah had too much scoring power and downed the Silvertips 71-56 and the Cougars followed suit with a 73-64 win.

The Grizzlies then faced a four game road trip with contests against New Mexico, Denver, and Utah University. The Lobos from New Mexico were the hottest team in the Skyline at that time and stopped the Grizzlies twice at Albuquerque by scores of 92-79 and 73-50. Denver also proved a stumbling block for Montana as the Pioneers triumphed 65-51 in the Mile High City. The final game of the long road trip was played at Salt Lake City and the Redskins from Utah University displayed championship form in winning 89-60.

The Silvertips returned to the Field House for two games and regained their winning ways. Utah State was the first victim by a 62-60 score and the touring Frankies of St. Francis

Al Dunham (39), Grizzly guard, jumps high in the air to score for Montana against Washington State College at the Field House. The Grizzlies came out on top in the fray with a 73-58 win.

Forward Zip Rhoades drives in for two points against Gonzaga as the Grizzlies dropped the Bulldogs 85-69 at the Field House. Three Zag defenders look on with astonishment as Rhoades goes by.

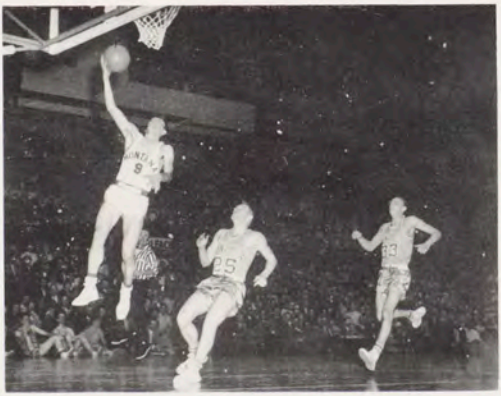

College (Loretto, Pa.) suffered a 72-56 defeat at the hands of the improving Silvertips.

Montana State College was the Grizzlies' next opponent and the first two games of the annual series were played at Bozeman. The Bobcats squeaked to a 55-54 victory in the opener but the Grizzlies couldn't be denied the second night as they won 69-57 to even up the series at one game each.

Montana resumed Skyline action with a two-game road trip into Wyoming and Colorado. The Cowpokes from Laramie, the outstanding team of the conference during the last half of the season, poured it on to down Montana 93 to 69. Colorado A&M proved to be equally bad hosts as they triumphed 96-76 the following night at Fort Collins.

The Grizzly hoopsters then journeyed to Spokane for another non-conference game with Gonzaga and enjoyed another 78-73 victory at the expense of the Bulldogs.

Three home games were next on the schedule and the Silvertips were glad to be back in the friendly confines of the Field House. Denver University tasted defeat in the first game as Montana led all the way for an 89-72 Skyline victory. Montana

Ed Argenbright (9), fleet Montana guard, beats two Gonzaga players as he tallies a basket for the Grizzlies in Montana's victory.

Al Dunham (39), Montana, and Curt Jenson (30) and Moris Buckwalter of Utah grapple for the ball during the Montana-Utah conference game won by the Utes 71-56. Montana fought the Redskins on even terms during the first half but the scoring punch of the conference champions proved too much during the second half.

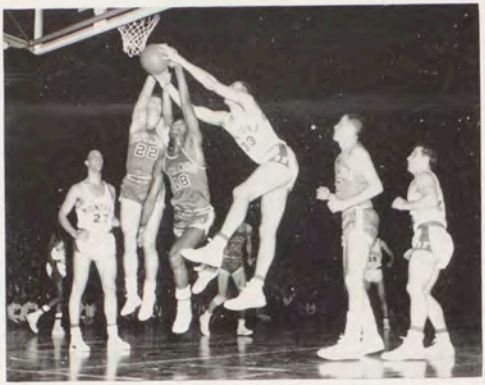

State College was next for two games and the renewal of the annual series that stood at one game each. The Grizzlies looked sharp in the two games and won 74-66 and 68-58 to win the mythical state championship.

The last road trip of the season found the Grizzlies at Provo and Logan for tilts with Brigham Young and Utah State. The Cougars were hot and the Grizzlies cold as BYU triumphed 95-73. Utah State had their shooting eyes trained the next night and the Grizzlies fell 73-67.

The final two games of the season at the Field House and top-flight basketball was displayed in both. The Silvertips were on, and avenged their earlier defeat at Laramie, as they downed the tall Wyoming Cowboys 59-56. Colorado A&M was Montana's last victim as the Grizzlies squeaked by the Rams 63-62 in a thriller that was decided by a last second basket.

Montana forward Ed Bergquist drives around his Brigham Young opponent to score for the Grizzlies at the Field House. The Cougars' superior height was too much for Montana as BYU won 73-64.

Russ Sheriff (33), Grizzly center, steals a rebound from two St. Francis players as Montana defeated the Pennsylvania team 72-56 at Missoula.

Activities

Orientation Week introduced nearly 700 freshmen to the campus with two days of tests, physical exams, registration. In between rush parties, frosh shined up the victory bell, trekked up Mount Sentinel to put a coat of whitewash on the "M" and themselves. This year an added attraction for frosh and upper-classmen . . . "mug shots" for student activity cards (with birth dates prominently displayed!).

Homecoming

Grizzlies followed the advice of the Sigma Chi-Delta Gamma winn ng float, "We're Having a Denver Sandwich," and "ate up" Denver University on the gridiron at the Homecoming game.

Phi Delta Theta and Corbin Hall chugged to second place victory in the parade of floats, with their candidate, Betty Barovich, riding on top, while Yvonne Kins played engineer.

Turner Hall-SAE float, with queen candidate Barbara Bartels precariously perched, navigates a tricky corner.

HOMECOMING: MSU welcomed alumnae back to the campus, along with a special guest — Robert Sibley — founder of SOS and other traditions during his years on the campus. Included in the weekend of activity were a Grizzly-Growler sponsored snake dance and pep rally . . . an SOS . . . float parade, and the Homecoming football game Saturday afternoon.

Lovely Sue Garlington, 1955 Homecoming Queen, receives flowers and trophy from Robert Sibley as last year's queen, Marilyn Shope, looks on.

Frosh girls get their first taste of campus campaigning and parading as they march behind their Brantley Hall float, featuring their candidate, Greta Peterson.

Bobcats welcomed MSU to a mixer in their SUB . . . in spite of their defeat on the football field.

Daisies and Lil' Abners flock to Marryin' Sam's booth to take advantage of his Sadie Hawkins Bargain — Ed Stuart does the honors.

Snow Weekend

AWS-sponsored Snow Weekend late in January included a snow sculpture contest among the living groups . . . crowning of a campus King and Queen . . . afternoon party at the Lodge . . . two mixers . . . With all these events planned, AWS crossed its fingers and wished for snow — which finally arrived just in time. If the weatherman continues to cooperate, this promises to become an annual event.

"Glow-worm" crawls into second place in the snow sculpture contest . . . assisted by Alpha Phi and Sigma Nu.

Kappas and Sigma Chis put finishing touches on their winning snow sculpture, "Three Coins in the Fountain."

Crowd at the "Snowball" looks over candidates for King and Queen of the Snow Weekend . . . and the stuffed sheep remains impartial.

"Toy Tiger" relaxes on the Corbin Hall lawn . . . looks pretty tame for his size.

Mrs. Ruth M. Berry (seated in center), housemother at Elrod Hall, reviews her book, "HIGH IS THE WALL," a novel concerning the problems of interfaith marriage, at a Corbin Hall autograph party.

Winter quarter activities ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous.

Foresters storm Turner Hall in search of their moose Bertha and a raging battle results.

Kams and Dregs dedicate new building on the oval — in "borrowed" Spur and Bear Paw sweaters!

Gail Huntley shows off a borgana coat to good advantage at the AWS style show in February.

Models trained by Eve Eliel parade down the ramp . . . campus beauties modeling campus fashions.

Western square dance time . . . in Mrs. Cooper's ballet production of "Scherzophrenia."

Nite Club Dance

The Music school provided an evening of dancing and entertainment with "Show Time, USA" . . . from Injuns to classic ballet. Proceeds from this annual affair go for music scholarships.

Western gives way to classic ballet and all its beauty . . . Ballet students deserve their laurels.

The popular freshman quartet cavorts in blackface at the Nite Club Dance.

Dick Riddle and Cara Boggess entertain again . . . this time whooping it up with "Injun Days."

Freshman sextet and "These Foolish Things Remind Me of you" . . . talk about talent!

Congratulations to the new king and queen . . . Helen Raymond and Lee Andrews reign over the Mardi Gras.

Mardi Gras

Step right up! Brantley Hall girls win first place among women's booths with their game of chance. Sigma Nu's bingo game takes first place among the men.

Sigma Kappas get a dunking . . . a little cold for swimming in February . . but anything for the cause!

The Yellowstone Room is turned into a miniature Coney Island . . . complete with crowd . . . for this annual Newman Club event.

Part of the crowd takes time out from the many concessions to enjoy some dancing.

Mr. Spruce Bud Worm and his partner walk off with first place honors in the costume division at the 39th annual ball.

Foresters' Ball

"Bat flys" take a rest from dancing . . . soft drinks, of course!

Don Stagg entertains at the honky-tonk piano . . . but what's the big attraction on the ceiling?

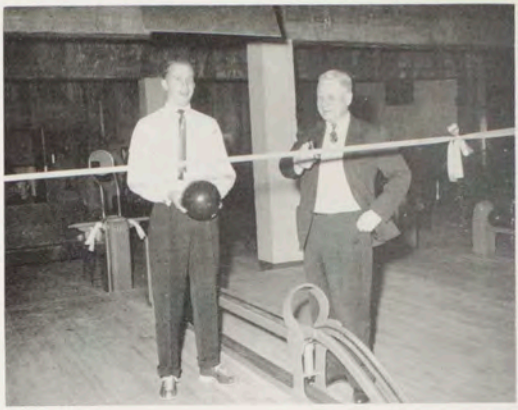

Foresters' Jug-Bottle Band performs at the Foresters' Convo. Who needs a big name band when there's talent like this right on campus?

The thirty-ninth annual Foresters' Ball was just what the bearded men had promised . . . "bigger and better than ever."

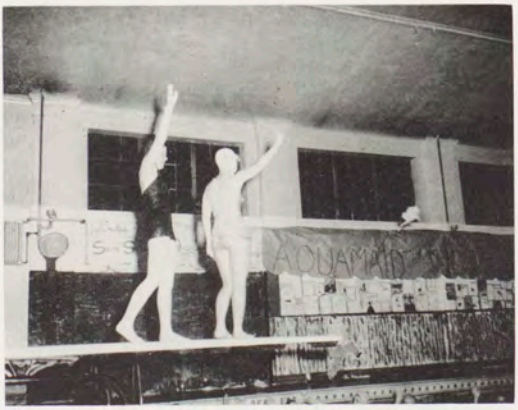

Prospective Bunyans await the judges' verdict. How about it, ma'am? Is mine the winning beard?

President McFarland cuts the ribbon at the dedication of MSU's Hellgate Bowling Alleys . . . President Jystad stands by to roll the first ball . . . down the middle.

Aquamaid Pageant

Bride and groom . . . Sue Casler and Courtney Crowder . . . begin their walk down the aisle in the finale of the Aquamaid Pageant.

Ann Allen goes to a watery grave . . . accompanied by several damp pallbearers.

Months of preparation again made this annual water show one of the main events of spring quarter . . .theme this year was "News Waves" . . . with routines patterned after daily newspaper.

Campus mermaids Ann Allen, Diane Davis, Carolee Karr at work in the water.

Blil Todd made national news with his health-center sitting stunt . . . finally came down after three cold days and nights when the WUS drive reached its goal of $1000.

World University Service

Professor Huling auctions off the Phi Delt's dog . . . and "You-All" looks pretty calm about this whole thing.

Frosh quartet on the auction block . . . Spurs outbid the field for these four talented gentlemen.

Theta door awaits sale at the Chinese Auction . . . There'll be open house at 1020 Gerald tonight!

John Fowler and his committee staged a successful drive for World University Service in April. Chinese Auction, car wash, Ugly Man contest, and faculty donations contributed over $1000 to help other universities throughout the world.

MSU coeds get a work-out at the car wash . . . a new idea for WUS this year . . . over 160 cars went through the assembly line.

Chow time at Flathead Lake Lodge . . . and what a solemn crew!

Leadership Camp

Boat rides on the Lake between meetings and rainstorms provided welcome relaxation.

Donna Kaye Bailey chairmans a "buzz session." Wonder what topic brought on these thoughtful expressions?

Campus leaders convened again this year at Flathead Lake for two days of fun and serious thinking. The annual Leadership Camp gave rise to many new ideas and much student-faculty re-evaluation of the university . . . its functions, students and their activities.

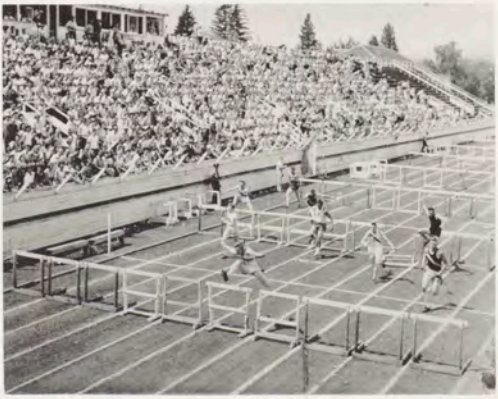

On the lighter side, cabin 4 entertains at stunt night . . . "Bob" Fox and "Ray" Crippen Watch Big Bob Palin swing a mean bat.

In May, MSU welcomed high school students to the campus for the 50th annual Interscholastic . . . drama . . . speech . . . journalism . . . awarding of scholarships . . . track and field events . . . and for MSU, tapping of members for its various honoraries . . . A busy weekend for all concerned.

Interscholastic

And they're off and running . . . Look at that stride out in front! Missoula County High School again took top honors in Track and Field events.

Phi Delt's slot machine won first place honors in Interscholastic house decorations, men's division.

Next door DG's built a goose that "layed" first place in the women's division.

Carnival time complete with ferris wheel at the Sig Ep house . . . and third place in house decorations.

Delta Gammas don costumes of the roaring twenties and sing their way to first place in the annual Newman Club songfest with "Put Your Arms Around Me Honey" . . . not a bad idea.

Newman Club Songfest

Phi Delta claims "There's Nothing Like a Dame"—to win first place among the men . . . And you should know, fellas!

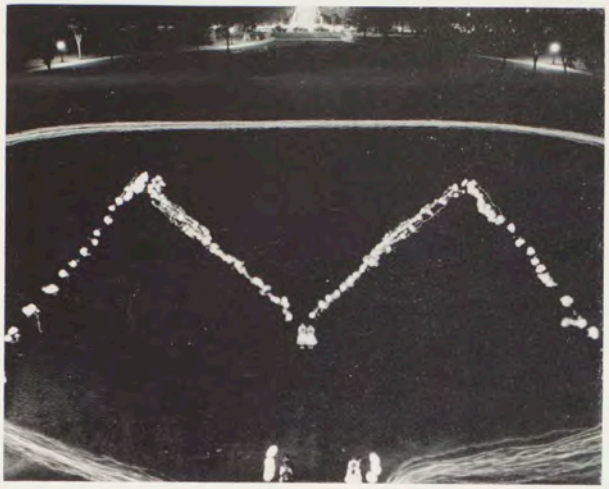

Community Concert Series brought four artists to the campus, among them Leonard Pennario, shown with his piano. Soprano Dorothy Warenskjold and cellist Leonard Rose also performed during the year.

Community Concert Series

Highlight of the season was the Boston Pops Orchestra under the direction of Arthur Fiedler, enjoyed by students and townspeople alike.

The annual AWS Lantern Parade . . . an impressive ending to college years for senior women, who in caps and gowns form the "M" on the oval.

Lantern Parade

An annual tradition at the Lantern Parade . . . installation of AWS officers. Outgoing Dar Forzley changes places with incoming Joan Hoff as other officers — old and new — look on.

Seniors look jubilant as they march to graduation exercises in the Field House . . . the climax of a week of activities. Just a few minutes and the sheepskin's theirs for life.

Graduation

Satisfied grins at the end of four years of hard work and fun . . .

Dr. Phillip R. White, noted research scientist from Bar Harbor, Maine, receives an honorary degree from MSU. Senator Michael Mansfield also received an honorary doctor of laws degree at the ceremonies.

Seniors stand to receive the benediction . . . a final word of advice and guidance before they go on their own . . . alumni at last.

Pictured at left is the new extension connecting Brantly and Corbin Halls. When completed it will provide additional space for 132 women. Also under construction at the present time is the new wing connecting Craig and Elrod Halls, which will provide living quarters for 256 men, and also the two units of the family housing project, which will make available to students and faculty approximately 100 apartments, ranging from one room bachelor units, to four bedroom apartments.

Pictured below is the new, modern, Montana State University Health Center. Designed as a small hospital and clinic, the building contains offices, examining rooms, work shop, eye-ear-nose and throat room, laboratory, X-ray room, nurses room, reception room, plus a full basement with offices, modern kitchen and washing facilities. There are separate wards for men and women; the Health Center will house a capacity of 28. The building is self supporting, financed from student health fees.

SIGMA KAPPA

This year — Mary Ann Kocar was president of Beta Gamma Sigma, Marilyn Jarland was president of the Women's M Club and Darlene Spek was president of the Women's Recreational Association. The annual Klondike Party was a huge success and the Spring Dinner Dance was enjoyed by all who attended.

The feud between the Sigma Kappas and the SAEs was renewed this spring when the SAEs stole the Sigma Kappa symbol and placed it prominently in an upstairs window of the SAE house. The Sigma Kappas retaliated by moving into the SAE house and declaring that if the sign stayed, they would stay too.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

This year — The ATOs, plagued by rushing woes, withdrew from Interfraternity Council and established their own rush program. Under the able leadership of house president Gerald Nelson, the men from the brick mansion on Maurice Avenue got back on thir feet and participated avidly in campus activities.

Besides the three main social functions the ATOs had the usual round of exchange dinners and impromptu get-togethers. Midnight poker games and all-night study sessions were common. The "hairy chested men" added another year of college life to their history and looked forward to an even better one next year.

Dave (the Gambler) Sansouci seems mighty interested in his hand. He must have an ace in the hole.

The ATOs hard at work on their Homecoming float. Let's get that chicken wire on and start stuffing napkins boys.

Bill Holt awaits the decision of the judges during the M Club fights.

You'd think that Soncouci could at least afford to buy an alarm clock with all his poker winnings . . .

PHI DELTA THETA

This year — Dave Burton was chairman of Judicial Council and Bill Williamson was junior delegate to Central Board. Clayton Schultz and Keith Peterson played varsity football, Ed Berg,quist, basketball and Larry Schulz pitched for the baseball team. The house took third place in Intramural sports. Socially, the Phi Delts started the year with a "prohibition" fireside, followed by the famous Hawaiian Party. The climax of the year was again the I Ball, which featured the music of Charlie Barnett. The Phi Delts took top honors at Interscholastic, winning both the Song Fest and the house decoration.

Next year — Paul Weingart and John Bansch, the newly appointed Kaimin editor, were tapped for Silent Sentinel.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

This year — Frank Boedecker was president of Phi Alpha Theta and Dick Anderson was a member of Bear Paw. Ed Wagner was house prexy and Bob Montgomery was social chairman and vice president. The chapter will be host to the National Phi Sigma Kappa convention this summer, to be held in Glacier Park. Socially, the Phi Sigs started out the year with a Roaring Twenties party followed by the Carnation Ball at which Bev Moore was chosen Moonlight Girl. Winter quarter brought the Coffee Dan's party and with spring came the Weekend Party. Phi Sigs Hans Weber, Fred Hollibaugh, Steve McLain, Ted Everson and Dick Anderson are all members of Pershing Rifles and the boys boast that all the house boys at the Tri Delt house are Phi Sigs.

Next year — Now that the building program is in full swing, the Phi Sigs are looking forward to another successful year in new and modern surroundings.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

This year — Ray Young was president of Ski Club, Ken Shoquist was Interfraternity Council President and John Powell, who was on the tennis team, was IFC treasurer. Dick Barney served as Traditions Board Chairman and Bob Gilluly and Jim Beadle were members of Montana Forum. John Dundas served on Store Board and Gilluly was a member of Silent Sentinel. Socially the followers of Minerva had a highly successful year. The annual Harem Party held the spotlight fall quarter with SAEs and dates attending in costume. The annual Winter Formal was the highlight of winter quarter and spring brought green grass and warm weather to the campus just in time for the second Sig Alph Olympics, in which representatives of each women's living group on campus vie for the Olympic trophy. The SAEs topped off the social year with a Weekend Party at Flathead Lake.

Next year — Jim Beadle and "Chub" Brown were tapped for Silent Sentinel.

SIGMA CHI

This year — Gary Jystad was ASMSU president with his roommate Bruce Crippen acting as ASMSU business manager. Dick Hosking was Sentinel Editor, Bill Neville was president of Flying Club and Rick Lee was cadet colonel and Pub Board chairman. Silent Sentinel members included Jack Dunbar, George Bovingdon, Bruce Crippen and Gary Jystad. Bear Paws were Jeff Watson, Bob Palin, Ed Stuart and Jim Nash. Maury Colberg played varsity basketball and Ron Lundquist and Jim Rowland were on the track team. Bill Todd was Peppermint Prince and Bob Palin won the Ugly Man contest.

The house won first place with the Tri-Delts on the homecoming float and with the Kappas for the snow sculpture contest. The annual Sweetheart ball was held winter quarter and Peggy Marlow was chosen sweetheart. The Sigs also had their French Party and the weekend at Seely Lake. The Halloween Fireside was a howling success with the girls being picked up in a hearse for the affair. 1956 is the 50th anniversary for Sigma Chi on the MSU campus.

Next year — Larry Pettit was elected sophomore delegate to Central Board and Bill Todd was tapped for Silent Sentinel.

Bob (Santa) Palin passes out the Goodies, as the Sigs played host to more than 80 underprivileged children, whose named were obtained from a Missoula County Welfare Agency, at the annual Kiddie Party.

Eddie (Duchin) Gron "fakes" a fast tune on the Baby Grand as brothers Crawford, Blinn, Smith, Jystad, and Crippen try to follow.

SIGMA NU

This year — Kim Forman carried through the Sigma Nu journalism tradition being editor of the Kaimin. Jim Abbott was vice-president of Phi Kappa Phi and both he and Kim were members of Silent Sentinel. Paul Caine was M-Club secretary and John Skees was president of Kams and Dregs and captain of the swimming team. Bill Adams was Bear Paw president and Gary Kaiser was treasurer. Other members were Dick Riddle, Tom Haney, Howard Mahan, Jerry Weller and Stu Nicholson. The house got first place in intramural and interfraternity football, first in interfaternity basketball, ping pong, M-club boxing and the track meet. Ken Byerly, Jim Black and Bill Kaiserman played varsity football, Ed Argenbright basketball and Jim Black, Mayo Ashley and Ken Calvin were tracksters. Tom Haney was Snow King, Lee Andrews Mardi Gras King and Dick Riddle Cheer King. The traditional Sigma Nu functions and activities were carried on successfully again this year—the Barn Dance, Gangster Party, the Pigge Dance and the ancient custom of Saturday morning tree hangings.

Next year — George Lambros will be president of Silent Sentinel — other members including Pat Fox and John Fowler, who's also ASMSU president. Jim Berry and Gary Sorenson were made new associate editors of the Kaimin and Cole McPherson, Dick Riddle and Bill Steinbrenner are the new Central Board delegates. Larry Gaughan got the Sibley Award.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

This year — Warren Gamas was a member of Traditions Board and Andy Olsen was a member of Bear Paw. Don Schessler won a marksmanship trophy in the national ROTC rifle competition. Social events for the year were the Queen of Hearts Ball, at which Laura MacKenzie was crowned Queen, in the fall; the Fireman's Ball winter quarter, and the spring swimming party at Gallogly Hot Springs, plus a variety of exchange dinners and firesides. In the early fall the Sig Eps teamed up with the Sigma Kappas to build a Homecoming float and winter quarter with the Thetas for the snow sculpture contest. At Interscholastic, the Sig Eps took second place in men's decorations, with a Ferris Wheel and a carnival theme. Winter quarter they won second place in Intramural basketball. House officers for the year were Warren Gamas, president; Larry Smith, vice president; Dan Naylor, secretary; and Karl Allen, house manager.

OMEGA EPSILON

Just came on campus this year. A non-discriminatory national fraternity, it was first established at New Yorks Clarkson College by Jaime Acosta-Madiedo de Castro who also founded the second chapter here. The main purpose of the fraternity is to promote international understanding and friendship, to foster welfare, encourage high scholastic standing and develop the purest fraternal spirit among its members. Fulfilling one of its main purposes, Omega Epsilon sponsors a weekly movie on foreign countries. It also sponsors the International Exchange Scholarship granted to foreign students wishing to study at MSU. The scholarship consists of the payment of the living expenses of the recipient while studying at MSU. This year's recipient was Mr. Chang Yae from Taichung, Taiwan, China.

The Freshman Quartet entertained at the Omega Epsilon inauguration banquet.

The Mercantile
. . . is a symbol of quality and integrity, so are the names behind this great western Montana shopping center. These famous labels represent men and women who have devoted their lives to the creation and development of fine merchandise. People who have built THEIR business success upon the same simple principles of honest values and strict adherence to good standards. Certainly it is through association with such fine makers that customers have come to know The Mercantile as the home-owned store where all of western Montana shops . . . . WITH CONFIDENCE!

KNOW MONTANA . . .

The Teacher Was Not Far Behind

As the prospectors moved north from gold discoveries at Virginia City and Bannack, building mining camps in gulches and canyons, the "professors" were not far behind.

Education, following the trailblazers, moved into the Butte mining district in 1865 into Silver Bow and the next year into Butte.

The pioneers trudged from the Virginia City district where schools had been started in 1863 at Bannack and in 1864 at Virginia City.

Unlike the schools in the other early-day mining camps, the first Butte school featured a course in dancing. That came about because the first regular teacher, Colonel Woods, was not only a competent educator but a cultivated musician.

Woods, however, did not teach the first classes in Butte. He was late in getting to the mining camp to fill the assignment and Thomas C. Porter, drawn earlier to Butte by gold, filled in for him. Porter had taught school in Illinois before coming west.

The first school in Butte, under Woods and taught during the winter of 1866-1867, had a short term. However the next year education did get a foothold in a school opened by William Haynes.

As the prospector settled down, the professor stayed.

COCHRANE DAM MEANS MORE POWER TO YOU

The Federal Power Commission on April 23 granted The Montana Power Company a license to proceed with construction of Cochrane Hydroelectric Plant, a 60,000-kilowatt generating unit on the Missouri River near Great Falls.

The new plant will supply enough power for two cities the size of Great Falls and is an example of our Company's policy of planning and building ahead of the need for electricity in our 90-000-square-mile service area.

Looking Back...

The past year has been a memorable one . . . the question of student apathy, studies, parties, dances . . . all become history. It is the sincere hope of the staff and myself, that this book will serve to keep these memories alive.

Countless thanks are due the many individuals who helped make this book a reality. To the helpers, who performed the many menial tasks so necessary for the success of any publication . . . Cyrile Van Duser, our adviser, who was always available to counsel or aid in any way possible . . . Al Salisbury, Bob Lindborg and Jack Gallant of Artcraft Engraving Co. . . . Harold Payne of Durand Covers . . . Claud Lord and the staff of the University Press . . . and to the many people, students and administration alike, who co-operated when the pressure was on, go our appreciation and thanks.

IN MEMORIAM

DR. RICHARD HENRY JESSE, born January 4, 1884; B.A., University of Missouri, 1902; M.A., Harvard, 1907; Ph.D., Harvard, 1909. Came to the University in 1912 as Professor and Head of Chemistry; Dean of Men, 1918-1927; Dean of Faculty, 1927-1936; Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, 1936-1945; Vice President, 1945 to retirement, Sept. 1, 1954; Acting President of the University, 1950-51; Died December 23, 1955.

Tribute to Dr. R. H. Jesse, 1884-1955

By EDMUND L. FREEMAN, Professor of English

Dr. Jesse had a great zest for life. He loved many things. He knew many books almost by heart and re-read some of them every year. There were few occasions that did not bring from him some most apt quotation from the Bible or Lewis Carroll or some old Roman or Greek author. But he was nothing pedantic with any of them; his hearer felt no embarrassment, only regret, that he did not know enough to appreciate all the points of the reference. He must have spent a good portion of his life reading aloud to children who were guests in his home and at the lake. One Christmas tree was never enough in his home. (It doesn't matter whether it was he or his children who would have it that way. One would not disrespect his memory by hunting the facts to corroborate what one felt about him.) Good food, good drink, good play, any good performance brought his compliment.

He probably disliked as many things too, and his reaction was just as strong to all these. One hesitates to mention any of them lest he add his own prejudices to the list. Sufficient to say, he could hate the sin without hating the sinner—unless he was a rascal too. Some of his friends were lawyers, but it was too bad if squeamish folk were around when the conversation turned to the law. Several faculty meetings and a few other meetings when his wrath was loosed will not be forgotten by his fellows. He well knew himself that he mixed his prejudices and his principles. But in the end he untangled them better than most of us do.

He set exacting standards for himself and for others. One often wished that he had had more faith in his own example, or even that he had set wider targets for his attack, for he had the style, the irreverence and the moral conviction of a satirist. While he was no Puritan in the ordinary sense, he seemed to demand as much of others as of himself and was often disappointed in the result and was severe with weaker people.

He lacked no necessary courage. He would rise many times to add the awkward facts that would make a discussion more difficult but more realistic. In perhaps his last faculty meeting he argued against the proposed policy of retiring faculty members from administrative positions at the age of sixty. He was not embarrassed by the fact that he was still in an administrative position at seventy. And if all of us could keep our strength as well as he had, there would be no need for such a policy.

He was most faithful and dependable. Asked by a chairman for a ten-minute talk to the student body, he would talk for ten minutes, seldom less and never more; and it would be a good talk, so well-prepared that it would sound extemporaneous, except to the knowing ear. No parent or Senior will forget the broad sweep of his jest and good-humor at Commencement dinners. Nor will students forget the excellence of his work in the classroom, witness the beautiful letter from one of his former students, in the Kaimin. As Dean of the Faculty he visited every session of the new Humanities course many years ago. He knew how good and how poor were all the convocations. For one who awed many students it was always surprising how much he knew about student opinion on many matters and how sound he felt much of that opinion was. On committees to select Rhodes Scholars and to give other honors—and probably on committees, or alone, to consider dismissals—he was endlessly patient in marshalling all the information that would lead to a good decision.

Dr. Jesse has had better luck in his going than we have had in his loss. He was intact in mind and spirit, still enjoying things and persons he loved. He had made an incalculable contribution to the University. He probably could still have given us some wise counsel. And a great deal of the knowledge of the past of the institution has passed away with him. But he may not have counted such information very important. He cared little for gossip, and he himself did what he did out of principle and love of the doing and not for the credit. And again, he would ask of others what he asked of himself, a good performance, without any fanfare. We could use others like him, and they are not easy to find.
